Medication

- Always store your medication in the bottle or box in which it was originally dispensed and which is clearly labelled.
- All medication should be kept out of the reach of children in a high cupboard or one with child proof locks. Remember children grow and like to climb.
- Methadone should not be stored in the fridge.
- For extra safety you can store your medication in a lockable "cash" box.
 - If there are children in the household Swanswell and Leicester Recovery Partnership will give you a free lockable safe storage box.
- Should you need to have your medication with you when you are away from home, make sure it is in an appropriate child proof container.
 - Ask your pharmacist for help if required.
- Medication should only be taken by the person for whom it is prescribed. It is dangerous and can be fatal for children to take medication not prescribed for them.
- Tell children in a way that they will understand not to touch or take anyone else's medicine.
- Keep alcohol in a safe place.
- In event of accidental taking, seek immediate medical attention such as calling an ambulance.

Paraphernalia

If you have children or not please:

- Store your works or any substances you are using away in a safe place out of the reach of children. Remember children grow and like to climb.
- Make sure you have access to clean equipment.
- Dispose of all of your injecting and other equipment.
- Sharps boxes and clean paraphernalia are widely available. Information and needle exchange is available from the Leicester Recovery Partnership, Renaissance House, LE1 6TP or your pharmacy.

Care of children

- It is essential to ensure that your children are properly supervised while you are under the influence of drugs or alcohol.
- If both you and your partner use drugs or alcohol then you may have to arrange to use one at a time so one of you is always keeping an eye on the children.
- Leave a sufficient time delay between using so that one of you is always alert enough to respond to the children.
- Make sure a responsible adult that you know well is around.
- Children can be very sensitive to changes in your mood particularly when you are coming down or experiencing withdrawal. Plan ahead for these times to ensure that your ups and downs don't affect them.
- With older children, develop safety plans including who they should contact in an emergency. Have up to date telephone numbers available, including how to call an ambulance if necessary.
- Think about who the children are coming into contact with. Children are more aware than you would think about what is going on around them which is worth remembering if you ever score, deal or use when they are around.
- Don't leave your children with people you don't know.

Routines

- Maintaining routines for children around sleeping, eating, going to school, and other activities is essential. It is also essential that they attend their health checks.
- It may be necessary to ask for the help of a close friend or family member to enable you to do this sometimes.
- For younger children it is important to access local play groups and nurseries. This can also give you a break.
- Advice and information is available from your health visitor and Sure Start. Your children's school may have information about local activities and after school clubs.

Driving

- If you drive while under the influence of alcohol or drugs you are placing your children, yourself and other road users at risk. If you are unsure whether you can drive on your prescribed medication then speak to your drug worker or doctor.

Violence and conflict

- Research shows that witnessing violence and conflict in the household is one of the most damaging things that can happen to children and young people.
- Further information regarding getting help and support if you are experiencing domestic violence is available from your case manager.

But my kids don't know that I use...

- Research shows that from about four years, and often younger, children are aware of their parents' drinking and drug use.
- While you may protect your children from seeing you use drugs or drink, they are often very aware of conversations that you are having and other things that are going on in their home.
- They can also be particularly affected by changes in your mood.
- Children can often feel they need to 'look after' their parents. This can put a lot of pressure on them.
- Older children and young people have said that they would prefer that their parents were open with them about what they are doing. It can be difficult to find the words to do this. Simple, honest explanations are often best. It can help to talk this over with someone that you trust before approaching the subject with your children.

Asking for help

- If you are using drugs or alcohol it can be very scary to ask for help because of fear of being 'found out' and people questioning your ability to look after your children.
- Parenting is not an easy task. Like all other parents, parents who use drugs and alcohol need extra support sometimes.
- Ensuring that there are people around who can help you and your children can make a real difference to them and you.
